TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

OUR TWO NEW SUNDAY-SCHOOL SONG BOOKS.

FOR USE IN SUNDAY SCHOOLS, YOUNG PEOPLE'S SOCIETIES, GOSPEL SERVICES, AND ALL DEVOTIONAL MEETINGS.

SIFTED WHEAT.

The new Song Book by the well-beloved writer for the Sunday-school and Gospel Meeting, CHAS. H. GABRIEL.

THIS BOOK is the product of Mr. Gabriel's prime, and will add new luster to his already brilliant reputation. He is here at his very best, no previous book having so many gems from his pen as this. He has also secured the co-operation of many other song writers, who give the needed variety of style.

THE HYMNS are practical and devotional, looking to the development of an earnest and energetic spiritual life. The music only emphasizes the sentiments of the words in an impressive and soul-stirring way.

THE USE of a generous selection of standard hymns and songs adds to the devotional value of the book. The book containing two hundred and twenty-four pages, these hymns do not curtail the amount of new material.

THESE BOOKS are well printed and strongly bound, and are unusually pleasing to see and handle. The prices are those usual with books of new music for Sunday schools by reputable authors—35 cents per copy, postpaid; $3.60 per dozen, or $30.00 per hundred by express, charges unpaid.

Examination Offer. Any pastor, Sunday-school superintendent, or chorister whose school is planning to get new song books will be sent a copy of either or both of the above for examination, provided he agrees to return the books in good condition, postpaid, within sixty days, if not adopted. If one is adopted and an order for not less than one dozen copies is sent to LORENZ & Co., with cash, he will be allowed to retain the sample of that book free of charge, the other sample to be returned.

The organ music which has appeared during the last year in the ORGANIST is now reissued in permanent book form.

ASHFORD'S ORGAN VOLUNTARIES No. 1.

This book is beautifully printed on good paper and handsomely bound in cloth. It contains seventy-seven longer and shorter pieces by twenty-four authors, American, German, English, French, and Italian. As it appeared in the ORGANIST from quarter to quarter, it was enthusiastically received and commended by musicians of the highest standing.

Price, $1.50 per copy, postpaid.

ALFRED MAYHEW SHUEY.

Mr. Alfred Mayhew Shuey, whose portrait we give above, was born in Hamilton, Ohio, in 1847. As his parents were both musical, it is not strange that the two sons and two daughters all became musicians.

The subject of our sketch manifested his love for music at an early age, before reaching the dignity of seven summers picking out upon the piano with one finger any melody he happened to hear. Unlike the average boy, he preferred playing the piano or violin to outdoor sports, so he probably cannot fully appreciate Howell's reminiscences of boyish life in Hamilton. He began the study of the violin seriously at twelve years of age under the direction of Prof. George W. Miller, a fine performer and excellent teacher at Oxford, Ohio, whither his parents had moved to educate their children. He continued his study of the violin under this instructor for six years, becoming an expert performer. During the same period he took up the cornet with Prof. J. E. Newton, and afterwards became the leader of the Oxford Brass Band, going with them in 1864 into the United States service for six months with the 167th Ohio Infantry.

During his residence at Oxford he attended Miami University, that nursing mother of great men, and graduated with honor in 1866. His academic studies probably suffered from his devotion to music, as, in addition to the work indicated above, he took lessons for five years from the distinguished Karl Merz in organ, harmony, composition, and orchestration, using Marx's work on musical composition as a text book. In 1866, after graduating, he moved to Minneapolis, where he still resides.

After a year of instruction on pipe organ and a review of harmony and counterpoint under Prof. E. M. Bowman, now of New York, he dropped further study under teachers. In 1868 he organized the Minneapolis Orchestral Union, composed of twenty-eight or thirty musicians, which gave four concerts each winter for several years.

Mr. Shuey is exceedingly fond of orchestral work, having, at various times, played violin, viola, French horn, and cornet, in organizations like the above. The scoring of music for orchestra or military band and the reading of such scores is his chief musical delight. He has written a number of compositions for full orchestra which have been performed in public, notably his "Scene Pastorale," which was played at one of the Danz concerts with great success. He has written also a "Festival Overture," and a number of marches which have been produced by Gilmore's, Innes's, Liberati's, Ellis Brooks', and many other prominent bands. His "Mass in F" was given at one of the Danz concerts by full orchestra and large chorus under his direction. He has also directed a vast number of concerts, the largest being that given in the convention of 1892 in Minneapolis, when Depew and McKinley appeared as speakers. This concert netted the convention fund over $10,000, after paying all expenses.

Mr. Shuey has been playing the organ and directing choirs for twenty-seven years, spending six years at the Plymouth Congregational Church and twenty-one at St. Mark's Episcopal Church, where he still has charge of the musical service. He has an excellent paid quartet and a fine chorus of twenty-six voices, of which he speaks in the highest terms: "I do not believe there exists in this country a chorus of twenty-six voices containing the quality of voice and the number of fine readers I have in my choir." This not only enables him to prepare fine music quickly and well, but enhances his pleasure in the work.

Formerly secretary of the Century Piano Co., Mr. Shuey's business hours were devoted to the duties and cares of his position, but for the last twenty years his entire spare time has been devoted to the study of the organ, composition, and choir work.

The list of his published compositions is a long one, beyond the limited space at our disposal. It consists almost wholly of sacred music particularly adapted to the use of Episcopal choirs, consisting of Te Deums and Masses as well as smaller compositions.

Mr. Shuey's music is characterized by its harmony, rather than its melody. He has a large harmonic vocabulary and this gives his work, even the simplest, a dignity and calm force entirely appropriate to divine service. Schumann has said that harmony is the king and melody the queen of music, but by paying homage rather to the king, Mr. Shuey reverses Schumann's dictum that the queen must rule. In some solo passages he uses only one note, fairly compelling the singer to intone the words; but what might have been monotonous is relieved by the rich harmonic variety of the accompaniment. Of course, the stately service of a large Episcopalian church does not give opportunity for a brilliant use of rhythm, and this necessarily limits the range of Mr. Shuey's melodic effects.

We are not depreciating the melodies of Mr. Shuey, for they are good and strong, sanely expressive of what he intends to say. What they lack in easy grace and sensuous charm they more than make up by their dignity and impressiveness. Mr. Shuey is fortunate in that he can express his individuality unhampered by considerations of popular taste or commercial results. We trust he may have continued leisure to devote to high class composition and to the preparation of excellent and elevating choir music like his Christmas anthem, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," No. 68 of Lorenz's "Octavo Anthems," which took the second prize in the Choir Leader contest by the unanimous vote of the judges.

THE PRELUDE OR OPENING VOLUNTARY.

In these days, when the simple, unpretentious service of former times has been replaced by the more elaborate and ornate form, the organ prelude becomes an important factor in the public services of the church. It is, so to speak, the means of preparation for the prayer and praise that is to follow. Possibly not enough thought is given by the average organist to this number. Many very good and even skillful players look upon it as hardly belonging properly to the service, but a sort of something 'thrown in for good measure," so that what they play, or the spirit in which it is rendered, is made of little account. It seems to us, however, that this is a mistaken view of the case. The organist should remember that it is much easier for the minister and choir to impress the congregation by prayer, exhortation, and hymn or anthem than by musical sounds, (however sweet) that are not wedded to words that direct and lead the mind and heart to holy thoughts. Consequently, if he would have the service one harmonious whole, he must select the opening voluntary with a view to accomplish, either by reverent style or familiar association, the object of turning the minds of those present from worldly thoughts to the real purpose of the service. The few moments of quiet meditation before the worship of the day begins may be helped or retarded by the character of the organ prelude. If dignified and really religious in style, it will prove an assistance. On the other hand, a selection of a trifling and frivolous nature will as certainly be a hindrance and stumbling block to some of the worshippers.

The wonderful variety to be obtained from the organ, is, of itself, a temptation to many organists to use a class of music that shows off the best solo stops and produces the most pleasing contrasts of tone color. Airs from the popular and familiar operas are frequently drawn upon for this reason. The "Miserere" from "Trovatore," the exquisite quartet from "Rigoletto," or the sextet from "Lucia di Lammermoor" are all most pleasing to the ear when rendered upon the organ. But what about the effect they produce on the mind of the listener through the medium of association? Hardly the right sort, one must admit. The same objection may justly be raised when it comes to the sentimental songs of the day, which one frequently hears played slowly and softly as opening preludes, for no amount of skillful changing and twisting will endow a love song such as "Oh Promise Me" with the proper religious element for divine service. It will always associate itself with the words to which it was originally written, and suggest the concert room rather than the sanctuary. There is, however, one class of secular music that may be freely drawn upon for the prelude, viz: the slow movements of the symphonies and sonatas. These great tone poems, so dignified in form and lofty in conception, may be used without the fear of calling to the mind of the listener any but elevated and pure thoughts. To these beautiful selections may be added a great number of solos from sacred oratorios and cantatas, besides the numerous preludes written expressly for church purposes by the great organists of the present day. The length of the prelude used must depend largely upon the remainder of the service. If it is to be followed immediately by an anthem, it should be somewhat shorter. If the service is one containing much music, it is not best to play too long an opening voluntary. In the English cathedrals this number is abbreviated to a few dignified chords and modulations, just simply sufficient to bring the singers into the choir-stalls. Probably this is done because the service is fully choral, and, with so much singing it would not be in good taste to over burden it with a long and elaborate prelude.

It seems to us that the great object to be kept in view is the fact that the prelude is really and truly a part of the service, and that it should lead up to and harmonize with what is to follow. It need not always be soft and subdued in its character. On the contrary, a bright, joyous number is frequently effective, and, if the anthem or opening sentence to follow after is in the nature of a prayer, the contrast will add to the effect of both numbers. On the other hand, a quiet subdued selection will enhance the brightness and joy of an anthem of praise and thanksgiving. The organist who has at heart the usefulness of the entire service, will make no great mistakes in selecting his preludes, for he will set aside all effort at personal display for the better and wiser purpose of helping others.

Miscellany.

THE CHURCH ORGANIST.

An article on "Church Organists," which the author states is "the result of long years of observation in regard to church organists," will be of stimulating interest to members of the guild.

Probably in no country in the world are there so many dextrous organ players as in our own. Their name is legion; all over the land young men have acquired the art of handling the organ with skill, they have mastered all its resources, and perform with accuracy the most difficult compositions.

Yet the church organist is a rara avis. I cannot recall ever having heard of a dozen of real ability, who addressed themselves to their duties with an intelligent comprehension of what the occasion demanded. They are mainly chosen for virtuosity, when in fact, that has little opportunity for display in the ordinary Protestant service. The true art of the church organist begins where the virtuoso ends. The concert organist is to the church organist what the elocutionist is to the orator, for demand is made on the church player for the exercise of the very highest art, far beyond nimbleness of finger or foot.

The variations of Thiele and the fugues of Bach have no proper place in the modern church worship, the function of the player being, when rightly understood, to induce worshipful and devotional feeling, and prepare the audience for the solemn offices of the service. To this end he is called upon to improvise, to construct in interlude, prelude and response a series of musical epigrams, demanding the exercise of the highest musical intelligence. Now here is just where our players fail. I have listened to the best performers in this and other cities, and have been amazed at the total ignoring of the very rudiments of musical composition in their extempore work. Whether written or extempore, music, in order to be music, must, like speech, have form; like poetry it must have rhythm, measure, and periodicity, and these seem to be almost universally ignored. An interlude must be in the rhythm of the tune it punctuates, it must have the length of phrase prescribed by the laws of music, it must have a beginning, a progression, and a conclusion.

Music, like any language, to be intelligible must have form. Chords strung together without rhythm are meaningless as the reading of beautiful, sonorous words down the page of a dictionary, they are merely jargon. And this is what we usually hear from our most accomplished performers—merely senseless jargon, a stringing together of chords, saying nothing, meaning nothing, without a musical idea, in short, tuneless drivel.

For this reason, very largely, the organ takes little place in the worship, but is regarded with entire indifference by the audience. Their attitude shows complete unconcern, and the noble instrument becomes merely a stop-gap.

The method of choosing organists is absurd. A number are convoked who play music practiced very likely for years and the showiest piece and the liveliest foot and finger win the prize. This is like testing a horse for speed, when you want him for draught purposes. The true method of determining the ability of a performer to do church work is to give him two tunes of widely different character to play, with interludes between the verses. If he gives out the tunes in exact, metronomic time, with a due regard for the character of the verses, if his interludes can be written down and make musical sense, having rhythm, measure, and periodicity, it may be considered that he is an artist, otherwise only an automaton.

It only remains for me to say that I find another grievous fault in the constant changing of the stops in giving out a hymn, and in the accompaniment of voices, a weakness and frivolity which is painful to the listener, producing the effect of unrest and self-consciousness in the performer, who seems rather to be searching for odd noises than to be playing in the house of God with a serious purpose. It is musical trifling, which is altogether too prevalent.

Much yet remains to be said regarding the adoption of music to the character of the service, to be "grave or gay," joyful or penitential, but doubtless this will be taken up by older and abler writers.—R. H. Woodman, in the Evangelist.

Dr. E. J. Hopkins, until recently organist of the historic old Temple Church, in London, promised to issue a "Handbook on the Organ" when he reached the age of eighty. He has passed that period and will now devote considerable time to labors with the pen.

PARKS'S QUARTET BOOKS.

FOR MIXED VOICES.

CONCERTS AND QUARTETS. (Secular.) Without doubt the finest collection of mixed quartets issued in years. It is a book that will be welcomed by all lovers of good "singable" music. Contains selections suitable for graduating exercises, Independence Day, Decoration Day, and in no other book is there to be found such an array of first-class humorous compositions.

SACRED QUARTETS. While especially appropriate to the use of quartets who desire something full of pleasing, taking music, easily learned and rendered, it can be made quite as effective with chorus or choir, and we can recommend it heartily as a practical and useful book for the average choir, whether quartet or chorus.

FOR MALE VOICES.

CONCERT QUARTETS. (Secular.) Filled from cover to cover with the kind of music you are looking for—pieces that can be easily learned, and yet give brilliant effects and win the average audience. It has many humorous "skits" that will prove very "catchy" for encores at concerts. A really first-class book of the popular type.

SACRED QUARTETS. Full of fine new music and new arrangements of old favorites, and will be very satisfactory to any male choir. We can recommend it very highly. The music averages a little easier than our "Manly Praise."

These books are printed on good paper, with large, clear type. That the editor is J. A. Parks will attract many who have learned to prize his music. Uniform price, 50 cents per copy; five copies, $2.00; per dozen, $5.50. A sample of each of the four sent postpaid for $1.50.

AN IMMENSE SUCCESS.

The Organist.

A BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL DEVOTED TO THE ORGAN.

Edited by E. L. ASHFORD. Assisted by E. S. LORENZ.

This journal now appears every two months in regular sheet-music size, but oblong in form, and contains thirty-two pages each issue. It is printed on good, strong paper, in beautiful, legible type, and in every way in fine mechanical shape.

The music consists of the choicest writings of French, German, and English organ-music composers, such as Battman, André, Tritant, Leybach, Guilmant, Rinck, Scotson Clark, and many others, with such ample additions from the best American composers as makes the periodical not only the richest supply of organ music possible, but also strictly up-to-date, and American. Mrs. Ashford, of course, enriches its pages with her own compositions to a considerable extent, and so assures all lovers of her music that the American side of the new journal will be rich with beautiful and available music. With many years of experience as church organist, Mrs. Ashford knows the needs of the average church organist, and has at her disposal the best music in the world to meet them.

The music is given on two staves, with ad libitum pedal notes. Indicated. Time, expression, and registration are carefully marked. The requirements of both pipe and reed organs are fully met. A limited amount of reading matter—hints and suggestions that are helpful—are furnished by the editor and others.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE: $1.50 per year. Single numbers, 35 cents per copy. Four successive numbers $1.00.

No free samples sent.

We will send a copy for examination, to be returned unsolicited in original packing tube, postpaid, if not accepted, and subscription not sent within thirty days.

The organ music which has appeared during the last year in the ORGANIST is now reissued in a permanent book form.

ASHFORD'S ORGAN VOLUNTARIES NO. 1.

This book is beautifully printed on good paper and handsomely bound in cloth. It contains seventy-seven longer and shorter pieces by 24 authors, American, German, English, French, and Italian. Price, $1.50 per copy, postpaid.

Few music books are so pliantly bound that they will lie absolutely flat on the music rack. Great chagrin and mortification—not to speak of ill temper expressed more or less sottic voce—may be prevented by this capital device, which we heartily recommend.

ANTHEM BOOKS AND OTHER CHOIR SUPPLIES.

THE BEST VOLUNTEER CHOIRS USE THEM!

The Anthem King.

Edited by E. S. Lorenz, assisted by a corps of over thirty contributors, among whom are about all the leading popular anthem writers of the country. The book is notable for three reasons:

1. ITS VARIETY OF STYLE.

It is not the product of a single mind, but of many minds, each of which has its own beauty of style and turn of thought. In this particular, this book excels all other current collections of anthems.

2. ITS PRACTICAL AVAILABILITY.

The book has been made along practical lines, the actual needs of choirs and churches being constantly considered. Here is special music for the great days of the year and for particular occasions; easy music for times when rehearsals cannot be had; appropriate music for special forms of work; responses after prayer and benediction; male choir numbers and an occasional piece for ladies' voices; music for choruses, or for quartets, just as the passing need requires. Certainly a more practical and available book has not been issued.

3. ITS LOW PRICE.

Where else can you get seventy-five choir pieces, by over thirty of the best writers of the country, for so little money? There isn't a dollar anthem book issued that has as much music as this. Other houses would charge $1.00 per copy, give the choir leader or organist a confidential cut, and make more money; but we make the discount when we fix the price, and cannot allow anything further. Our books are the cheapest without the alluring discount, for they cost only 60 cents per copy by mail, postpaid, or $6.00 per dozen by express, charges not paid.

The book will have 208 pages, large octavo; will be printed on good paper and bound in a flexible yet strong manner.

The Anthem Prize.

Edited by E. S. Lorenz. This new collection of anthems is undoubtedly the finest that has ever appeared. A few of its striking points are:

1. The large variety of authors. No less than thirty-five authors represented by their best and most popular compositions, ranging in style from the charmingly popular to the classically severe.

2. The large amount of music. By our typographical arrangement we are able to present one-third to one-half more music than in any other books of the same size. Organ scores, however, are given when they add to the effectiveness of the music.

3. The great beauty of the music. As the title indicates, these anthems were selected from an immense amount of manuscript, sent in to compete for the large prizes we offered for the best music. This volume contains by Mrs. E. L. Ashford and Prof. J. A. Parks, and a large number of other compositions which took honors in the contest.

4. The exceedingly low price. Books containing only one-third as much music by authors of less repute than many who contributed to this book are sold at $1.00, or $10.00 per dozen. We cut that price nearly in two, offering our book at 60 cents per copy, postpaid, or $6.00 per dozen, by express.

"THE ANTHEM PRIZE" contains 192 pages, large octavo, printed on good paper, strongly bound in boards with cloth back.

Small Easy-Anthem Book.

FESTAL ANTHEMS. Seventh thousand now ready. "FESTAL ANTHEMS" has proved exceedingly popular. Excellent for Sunday-school choirs for special occasions. 64 pages, manilla cover, 25 cents per copy, postpaid; $2.20 per dozen, postpaid.

The Young People's Choir.

A BOOK OF EASY ANTHEMS.

Prepared by Rev. W. F. McCauley, assisted by Dr. W. H. Doane and Charles H. Gabriel.

A Young People's Choir will be a help in Young People's Society meetings, provided the choir-book used (1) contains matter along the various lines of the society work; (2) has music both feasible and meritorious, embracing a wide range of authorship representing both past and present; (3) consults brevity rather than length in the selections; (4) is well provided with compositions suitable for solos and quartets; (5) has departments for male and also for female voices; and (6) is supplied with convention choruses suitable for large choirs. Such a book will of course be exactly adapted also to general church choirs. All these wants are met in the YOUNG PEOPLE'S CHOIR, at a price that should put the book within reach of all.

The book contains 76 pieces in 144 pages, large octavo size.

Price, 50 cents a copy, postpaid; $5.00 a dozen, by express, charges unpaid.

The Gloria.

Fourth edition now ready. Edited by E. S. Lorenz, assisted by over thirty of the most popular anthem writers. "THE GLORIA" contains a magnificent collection of music, comprising great variety of style and subject, making it a veritable mine of riches for all regular and special church services. It has been used by many large and well-trained choirs with great success and delight. It contains a high, but not difficult, grade of music. By using organ score only when really needed, the editor has been able to make place for from fifty to one hundred per cent. more music than the average choir-book of like size and double the price. The various festal seasons of the year, such as Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, etc., are fully provided for. The music is intended mainly for chorus work, but has also some solos, duets, and quartets, for male and female voices.

192 pages, large octavo, board binding. 60 cents per copy, postpaid; $6.00 per dozen, by express, charges not paid.

On receipt of 11 cents per copy, for postage, a sample of each of the foregoing anthem books will be sent for examination; to be returned, postpaid, in good condition, if not adopted; if adopted, to be paid for at dozen rate.

THE CHOIR LEADER.

The King of Choir Journals.

An Anthem for Every Sunday.

Twenty to Thirty Pages of Music in Each Issue.

EDITED BY E. S. LORENZ, ASSISTED BY E. L. ASHFORD.

The strongest, fullest, most attractive, most varied, most complete, and cheapest choir serial in the world! That's a large contract, but the Choir Leader carries it out. Ask the two thousand aggressive choirs that use it.

ITS POINTS:

1. Its contributors include the best anthem writers for chorus choirs in the country. Over fifty composers have been represented in its pages up to the present time. These include such writers as Emerson, Schaecker, Ashford, Ogden, Doane, Blumenschein, Parks, McPhail, Palmer, Bierly, O'Kane, Shuey, Towne, Towner,—indeed, almost every notable name in the catalogue of American writers, while many of the standard authors have received consideration.

2. It is edited with a view to supplying the needs of volunteer chorus choirs, although many quartet choirs use it with great satisfaction.

3. It ranges in grade from the simple to the moderately difficult.

4. It supplies fifty per cent. more music than any other anthem journal or book at the same price. It contains from twenty to thirty pages of music in each issue.

5. It furnishes the best music issued for special occasions, providing richly for all these needs.

6. Its reading matter is full of helpfulness and interest, bearing directly on choir work.

7. It has one objection in common with other serials and octavo music: the numbers get lost and worn out. We meet this objection fully by furnishing with each regular subscription a SUBSTANTIAL BINDER FREE.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One subscription, 75 cents; 5 to 9 subscriptions, all to one address, 60 cents each; 10 or more subscriptions, all to one address, 50 cents each. No discounts on these rates. Binders sent free on receipt of the cash.
